

MUCYO

Emmanuel

Full Stack Developer

I hold a Bachelor's degree in software Engineering and an Advanced Diploma in Networking, providing me with a solid foundation in software development, system administration, and network security. My academic background is complemented by hands-on experience in deploying secure web applications, managing Linux-based systems, and working with containerized environments using Docker and Traefik. I'm passionate about solving real-world problems through innovative software solutions and continuously enhancing my skills in cybersecurity and cloud infrastructure.
